"The Best Company for the Policy-Holder."

More Testimony from the Right Source—From Business Men of Large Experience with the Leading Life Companies:

HENRY BENEDICT, a manufacturer of Milwaukee, Wis., after large experience in some of the leading companies, says: "The NORTHWESTERN is the BEST company FOR THE POLICY HOLDER now engaged in the business of life insurance."

Another (a prominent business man East) says: "The dividends on my policy have not only increased rapidly from year to year, but have been LARGER THAN IN ANY OTHER COMPANY in which I am or have been insured. I regard the Northwestern as one of the soundest financial corporations, as well as one of the ablest managed life insurance companies in this country, and as such can conscientiously recommend it to the attention of those who desire sound insurance at the lowest attainable cost."

Similar testimony from the highest sources is abundant, and more of it will be given to the public.

HIGH INTEREST RATES, LOWEST DEATH RATIO and GOOD MANAGEMENT are the elements of security and low cost in the NORTHWESTERN.

More Damaging Evidence against the Anarchists.

TAXATION OF BANK SHARES

New York Hop Growers Abandon all Hope—Two Domestic Tragedies at and near Louisville—Eastern Notes.

CHICAGO, July 27.—In the anarchist cases this morning a number of newspaper reporters and others who were present at the Haymarket meeting the night of the riot when the bomb was thrown were on the stand. Their testimony did not differ from that already given on the same subject.

Up to 3 o'clock nothing new was elicited in the testimony of Reporters Heinman and Percy English and Detective Haas of the city detail. Then the session began to develop evidence of importance. The most interesting and probably the most valuable testimony of the afternoon was that of M. M. Thompson, an employee in the wholesale store of Marshall Field. The witness, who had been in business on the west side, was returning toward the river on Randolph street when the Haymarket meeting was assembling. Stopping near an entrance to an alley a short distance from the speakers' wagon he saw Spies mount the vehicle, inquire for Parsons and descend to the ground. Shortly Spies, accompanied by a man who had been pointed out to him as Schwab, passed by him to the alley.

Grinnell—Did you hear any words spoken by either of the men?

Witness—I heard the words "pistols" and "police." Then one of the men asked the other: Would one be enough?

Grinnell—What happened then?

Witness—The men came out of the alley and went west on Randolph street. I knew there was to be speaking, and followed them to learn when the speaking would take place. They went west to Halstead street and I followed near Halstead street. They were joined by a third man whom I had not seen before.

Grinnell (handing witness a photograph of Schnaubelt)—Does this resemble the man whom you saw with Spies and Schwab?

Witness—Yes, sir.

Grinnell—What happened then?

Witness—The three men then started toward Haymarket. I went along, and once when quite close to them I saw Spies hand the strange man something, which he put in his pocket. A moment later I passed by the men and heard Schwab say: "Now if they come give it to them." Before I was out of hearing distance I heard Spies reply: "I don't think we can, for they won't give us a chance to-night."

Witness then told how he accompanied the men back to Haymarket, where by this time quite a crowd of men had assembled. Spies mounted the speakers' wagon and he lost sight of the other two.

The cross-examination was long and tedious. Foster was exasperating to the witness and the witness was half defiant to the attorney. The court was frequently obliged to interfere while the state's attorney aroused the ire of Capt. Black by his efforts to protect the witness against the effects of occasional brow beating. The proceedings closed here for the day.

EASTERN NEWS ITEMS

CATTLE PROSPECTS IN WYOMING.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July [illegible].—Reports from various sections of Wyoming indicate that an unusually dry season has followed the snowless winter. Up to July but little rain has fallen in any portion of Wyoming. In the past two weeks the eastern part of the territory has had many cloudbursts and copious rains, filling the streams bank high. Thus far the summer has been the average Wyoming summer. As a whole the territory has not suffered from drouth, while some portions in central and northern Wyoming have. Grass is fair and has cured now promising good winter grazing where the country is not overstocked. Wyoming, from the line of the Union Pacific to the northern boundary, is fully stocked and cannot feed more cattle than are already within her borders. Importations of half starved Texas cattle, such as your correspondent has recently seen brought to this territory by rail, are sure to suffer for want of sufficient food and water. Losses among that class of cattle must be very great under the most favorable circumstances next winter.

A cattleman now returning from a thousand mile ride over the cattle ranges of Northern and Central Wyoming reports beef more than average. The hay crop is small but of first-class quality. All agree that while the season has been unusually dry, grass is good in Southern and Eastern Wyoming, but drouth has affected large growing fields in Johnson, Fremont and Crook counties. Ranchmen and new settlers who immigrated to Wyoming this year, intending to cultivate the soil, have greatly suffered from drouth. Their attempts to raise crops generally proved failure, owing to the scarcity of water for irrigation. This, however, does not affect Wyoming as a whole, as the [illegible] and capital of our people are principally devoted to stock raising.

MRS. PAVY AND HER HUSBAND'S RECORDS.

WASHINGTON, July [illegible].—There are quite a number of private papers and records belonging to members of the Greely expedition now in the hands of the war department which their owners are unable to procure, although they have repeatedly demanded them. In the case of Mrs. Pavy it is well known that she has not yet received the most valuable paper belonging to her husband and that they have been officially designated as missing records. Notwithstanding that she has written proofs of their existence at the time of her husband's death these papers are still unreported. During the last few months she applied through her attorney, Judge Upton, for the remaining records of her husband and the judge was refused them. Although Mrs. Pavy was in Washington and Judge Upton represented her legally, the remaining papers of Dr. Pavy were sent to a lawyer in New York city who had never furnished a power of attorney to the department and had received none by Mrs. Pavy's authority. The laxity on the part of Gen. Hazen provided the New York lawyer with an opportunity to attempt to extort an unauthorized fee, which he promptly did by demanding from Mrs. Pavy $100 for the official journals of her husband, although the department had sent most of the other original papers to the survivors or their legal representatives, the government merely retaining copies. Mrs. Pavy being unable to pay the sum demanded, the lawyer still holds the papers.

[illegible] AFFECTING TAXATION OF BANK SHARES.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July [illegible].—Argument was heard here to-day by Judge Wallace of the United States [illegible] taxation of shares of national banks and are considered the most important ever presented to the court on the subject. The [illegible] urged by the banks is that the state law violates the provision of section [illegible] of the revised statutes of the United States which forbids taxation of shares of national banks by the several states at a greater rate than other forms of moneyed capital in the hands of individual citizens thereof. If the point is sustained it will affect taxation of shares of national banks in nearly every state in the Union and in many states the taxation of state bank shares as well. The tax upon bank shares in New York is more than a million dollars a year.

HOP GROWERS ABANDON ALL HOPE.

CANAJOHARIE, N. Y., July [illegible].—The last ray of hope entertained by hop growers throughout New York state vanished this morning. During the night a heavy rain occurred. Growers thought this would have a good effect, but instead yards which yesterday appeared green and healthy are now black and utterly ruined. Many growers destroyed their yards a week ago and their example will now be followed generally. Where a week ago it was thought a quarter of an average crop would be harvested, now it is believed that not a pound will be picked. Growers are very much disheartened and their predicament is only equaled by that of the hop pickers. Good hops now bring 3½ cents as against 6 to 10 cents six weeks ago.

RAINS IN COLORADO.

DENVER, July 2[illegible].—Frequent rains of late have broken the drouth in Colorado, and there will be [illegible] to crops. Reports of damage [illegible] overestimated from the first. [illegible] in the Platte valley below Denver [illegible] entirely removed. [illegible] western portion of the state [illegible] looks well. In many districts [illegible] are now depended on crops are better than the [illegible] The western and southern portions of the state were not affected by the drouth. The New Mexico plains are dry. Cattle are suffering but not perishing.

IS YOUNG GOULD MARRIED?

NEW YORK, July 27.—There is considerable gossip among club men and Wall street people, notwithstanding the denial of Jay Gould, as to whether George Gould is still a bachelor or is the husband of Edith Kingdon, a pretty young actress of the Daly troupe. As far back as six months ago the tongue of gossip linked their names together, and rumor had it that they were engaged to be married. When the Daly company, including Miss Kingdon, sailed for Europe many people openly expressed their astonishment because Gould did not appear at the dock to bid the young lady bon voyage, but he sent a magnificent bouquet of white roses from his father's famed greenhouse at Irvington and followed her shortly after. His intimate associates did not know of his projected voyage until after he had sailed. Jay Gould has been opposed to the match from the outset.

WILL REORGANIZE.

NEW YORK, July 27.—A circular was issued for signature to-day by parties connected with the Rio Grande division bondholders' committee, requesting Robert Fleming, J. F. Schiff of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., Charles M. Frye, [illegible] P. Olcott, Mayer Lehman, Charles M. McGhee, Wm. T. Walters and J. Kennedy Todd to act as a committee for procuring a plan of reorganization for the Texas & [illegible] The committee will meet in one or two days and one of its members stated that it would probably use the Rio Grande division [illegible] as [illegible] for their work.

GRAND ARMY CHANGES.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Junior Vice Commander [illegible] of Harr[illegible] [illegible] department of the Potomac G. A. R. has resigned his position [illegible] Commander-in-Chief [illegible] [illegible] Charles [illegible] of the department of the [illegible] at Troy, Ohio, has been appointed in his place. In place of Dr. J. C. Tuck, surgeon [illegible] Dr. Andrew S. Everett of Denver, Col., has been elected.

RELIEVED FROM QUARANTINE.

CHEYENNE, July 27.—On application of the governor of Missouri, who furnishes evidence that no disease is prevailing among live stock in that state, Gov. Warren of this territory to-day issued a proclamation relieving live stock coming from Missouri from the provisions and restrictions of the quarantine in force at this point.

A PRACTICAL JOKE.

NEW YORK, July 27.—The alleged attempt to blow up the steamboat Sylvan Stream, which was conveying Dom Augusto Leopoldo, prince of Brazil, and party from Bay Ridge to New York yesterday, is regarded by the police as a practical joke. Detectives have been detailed to find the perpetrators nevertheless.

SECRET SESSION.

WASHINGTON, July [illegible].—The senate passed six hours in secret session to-day and during that time disposed of five of the contested nominations.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR

ATTEMPT TO [illegible] BRAZILIAN PRINCE.

NEW YORK, July [illegible].—Prince Dom Augusto of Brazil, in company with the Brazilian consul, Gen. Salvador D. Mendonca and a number of midshipmen of the Brazilian frigate Almirante Barroso, went to Coney Island last evening at the invitation of the managers of the Sea Beach railroad. That they got back alive and well will be a perpetual wonder to most of the guests who got back with them. When the boat was nearing White[illegible] street on its return a long black bottle, filled apparently with explosives, with a wire and fuse attachment, the fuse burning and spitting fire like a Fourth of July wheel, was found lying under a row of seats in the upper cabin right over the engines. Only the coolness and nerve of a deck hand kept the bottle from bursting. The fuse had burned down to a quarter of an inch of the bottle's neck when the terrified cries of a couple of women brought George Brown, a deck hand, to the spot. He [illegible] the sizzling machine over the [illegible] and extinguished the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] committee on an [illegible] of New York.

[illegible] July [illegible] before noon to-day [illegible] shot and killed John [illegible] and mortally wounded Peter Haupt [illegible] Several days ago Kohler [illegible] young wife charging her with [illegible] for Haupt. He went to see her to-day and found Haupt and [illegible] in the house. He tried to make them leave. Then [illegible] threatened to eject him, whereupon he pulled his pistol and killed Carter and shot Haupt through the head. Koehler gave himself up.

Shortly after the Louisville tragedy a similar one occurred across the river at New Albany, when [illegible] Strunk shot and killed Charles Hoover and seriously wounded his father, Dr. Hoover. It is charged that young Hoover had been too intimate with Strunk's wife. Only a short while ago Strunk shot at Hoover, but with no serious results. Hoover and father were returning from dinner at noon when they were met by Strunk, who began shooting. Dr. Hoover was shot through the groin. Young Hoover started to run, but was struck by four bullets and fell dead to the pavement. Dr. Hoover is a well-known physician and is a professor in the [illegible] college.

RUINED BY SPECULATION.

PHILADELPHIA, July [illegible].—Last March William J. Pierson, cashier and chief bookkeeper of the American Baptist Publication society, was thrown from a carriage and had his leg fractured. Since then he has been confined to his home. During his enforced absence it was observed that he is a defaulter to the extent of $50,000. The secretary of the society has sworn out a warrant charging [illegible] that amount [illegible] of the funds of the society. A warrant for Pierson's arrest has been issued, but he is not [illegible] [illegible] speculation.

EXECUTION AT DENVER.

DENVER, July [illegible].—Andrew Green, colored, was publicly hanged here to-day in the presence of [illegible] people for the murder of Joseph C. Whitney, a street car driver, May 13th last. The murder was committed for the purpose of robbery. [illegible] [illegible] Green was twenty-four years old [illegible] confessed the crime from the gallows. Own [illegible] family [illegible] of strangulation.

TRIAL [illegible] THE FIRST DEGREE.

[illegible] Kan., July [illegible].—Argument in the trial of Willie Sells, charged with the murder of his father [illegible] brother and sister, was concluded to-day [illegible] given to the jury. A verdict was returned [illegible] finding defendant guilty of murder in the first degree. The prisoner [illegible] betrayed [illegible] emotion.

COSTELLO KNOCKS OUT CLEARY

Homicide near Forest Grove—G. A. R. News from San Francisco—The California Senate Punishes a Newspaper

ALBANY, July 2[illegible].—A great crowd assembled to-day at noon at the depot, but all were sadly disappointed, as the train stopped about three blocks south and the officers with Saunders and Jamison stepped off and entering a hack were quickly driven to the jail. Your correspondent visited Saunders during the afternoon and through the courtesy of Sheriff Smith was granted an interview. Upon being shown to his cell he met a far different appearing man than he who left it just twenty three days before, as rough usage had plainly told upon his system and the mental and physical trials through which he had passed were plainly discernible on his face.

"Yes," he said, "I will tell you all about my travels since escaping, so long as it does not reveal anything which will give me trouble. I had the assistance of two men in getting out of jail. They gave me tools through the window with which I sawed open my cell door and they dug the hole through the wall. When I was outside they offered me three revolvers and ammunition, but I would not take them as being weak I did not want to carry any unnecessary load. [This with other remarks in regard to friendly assistance is not generally believed, and circumstances do not prove them.—REPORTER.]

AFTER ESCAPING

It was 3 A. M. when we got out and as we passed the down town smoke was coming from several chimneys. We swam the river as I was getting afraid that we dare not take a boat. In crossing I lost one shoe and soon after getting across I tore the nail from the big toe of my left foot. This pained me very much for two weeks and was one reason why I did not travel faster. When I escaped I did not intend going ten miles from Albany for at least three months. Monday I lay in the woods below Pierce's place while the kid (meaning Jamison) went to a house for food and matches and was in there when some men called with papers announcing our escape. He got lost and did not return until 5 P. M. Being wet to the skin, hungry, and with a painful foot, the day was anything but a pleasant one. For over a week we lay hid in the brush before I was able to travel towards the coast. We went by Philomath, where the kid bought me a pair of shoes, and from there we made our way down to the Alsea river. There I bought a boat and started down stream, but before going very far capsized and lost everything except my gun and field glass. Then without blankets until we reached Alsea, where we bought more. In the Alsea valley I found many friends who offered me assistance, the most of which I declined. Some offered to keep me months until the present danger was passed. During our travel we only had one gun, a Winchester rifle, which I owned before being placed in jail. With it I killed grouse, ducks and four deer. We had plenty of meat but suffered most for want of bread. I had a good field glass and at times sat upon a mountain side and watched the movements of the men on the beach who were hunting me. The night before I was arrested I was warned by a brother of one of the men who was after me. Starr, that the officers were close at hand and had ambushed the trail. We hurried on as I thought we could reach a certain hill before arrest and once there I would find a wagon ready to convey me to a secluded hunter's cabin far back in the mountains where I could have rested for months with [illegible] of arrest and where friends had agreed to bring me food. I saw every copy of THE OREGONIAN since my escape and for the last ten days friends kept me posted with every turn made by the officers after me. Had I not made a miscalculation on the location of the ambush at the mountain I would not have been caught."

WE LAID OUT SIX NIGHTS

CLEARY KNOCKED OUT.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—The fight between Martin Costello (The Buffalo) and Tom Cleary took place at Oakland between this morning with [illegible] gloves. Danny Paley was appointed referee and Austin Fitzgerald and Mike Smith time keepers. For several minutes there was lively sparring. At the close of the first round there was little advantage gained by either party. The men stood up to their work well. While the men were fighting, police surrounded the building. The men went on with their work of the second round in earnest and The Buffalo was delivering fearful blows at his opponent when Captain Thomas jumped upon the platform and called out aloud: "Stop this fight! You are all under arrest!" The call caused a great commotion among all except the fighters. They fought more viciously than before. Capt. Thomas and Deputy Sheriff Woolsey jumped into the ring to separate them, but the men would not be separated and their blows came quicker than before. Buffalo was getting the advantage of Cleary. He struck him a terrible blow on the neck and Cleary fell prone upon the floor. He did not come to time in ten seconds and amid great excitement the fight was awarded to Costello.

The fight lasted less than ten minutes. Capt. Thomas stepped forward and arrested the principals for misdemeanor in participating in a prize fight and announced to the spectators that they were under arrest for visiting a prize fight. The announcement caused great consternation in the crowd, but means of egress were securely guarded. The crowd made a break for the windows and a large number jumped out and escaped. Two principals and twenty one of the spectators were captured and conveyed to the city prison.

The bail of the principal was fixed at $500 and they were released on bonds. The spectators were released on putting up $50 bail. The officer have the names of a large number of spectators who escaped and they will be required to put up bail for their appearance or they will be arrested.

The fight was for the middleweight championship of the Pacific coast and gate money. The price of admission was $10. Fifty two persons paid money and therefore the gate receipts were $520. There were between seventy and eighty persons present in all. The [illegible] But [illegible] The principals [illegible] arrested [illegible]

SHOOTING AFFRAY AT A MINE.

NOGALES, July 27.—A shooting affray took place at the Plancha del Plata mine sixteen miles from here between J. H. Smith alias J. H. Morrill, and George H. Miles. Smith was arrested here some six weeks ago, on a charge of murder committed in Nebraska some three or four years ago. After the arrest he made his escape into Mexico, vowing vengeance against Miles, who gave the information which led to Smith's arrest. Miles visited the Plancha del Plata mine yesterday, and while there saw and recognized Smith, who stepped into a cabin, procured a gun and commenced firing. Miles returned the fire, shooting Smith in the stomach with fatal result. Smith, in an ante mortem statement, says that Miles passed by him while at the door of the cabin and commenced firing without a word of warning, that he then procured a gun and returned the fire. Miles left town yesterday for parts unknown. No effort to capture him has been made.

G. A. R. NEWS.

Preparations for the Entertainment of the Guests—Arrival of the Portlanders

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—Information has been received by the general committee of the G. A. R. that owing to delays occasioned by washouts on the A. T. & S. F. road in New Mexico and Colorado, delegates to the encampment will not arrive in time for the procession Tuesday. If they stop off at Los Angeles as some of them intended, they [illegible] fail to come straight through they will not arrive until Thursday, August 5, and will miss some important features. There are over 1000 persons including a special train from Ohio now en route as delegates and visitors by that road.

Comrade J. Lee Knight of Topeka arrived to-day with some sixty other Kansans who are here to attend the encampment. He states that there will be no fewer than 200 from his section including a drum corps. The remainder are expected within a week.

Twenty five detectives have been detailed for duty in various parts of the city during the G. A. R. encampment to protect visitors from local and imported sharpers. Of the detail eight will be stationed at G. A. R. headquarters at the Occidental hotel.

Among the churches the First Baptist on Eddy street near Jones and the Plymouth Congregational on Post near Buchanan will decorate their pulpits and interiors, in honor of the soldier guests.

THE PORTLANDERS ARRIVE.

Gen. F. H. Lamb, commander of the department of Oregon G. A. R., arrived to-day on the steamer Oregon from Portland. He was accompanied by twenty five other members, among whom were Lieut. Gov. J. C. Smith of Illinois and Frank J. Parker of Walla Walla. They proceeded immediately on their arrival to the headquarters of the department of Oregon, situated in the Odd Fellows' new building, corner Seventh and Market streets. The location is a good one as the national encampment will hold their sessions in the same building. Arrangements were at once begun for decorating the Oregon headquarters, also for arranging the products of the state which it is intended to display. The Oregon department will form a part of the sixth division, the first section of which has been placed under command of Gen. Lamb. This section will comprise the departments of Oregon, Kentucky, Washington territory, Arkansas, New Mexico, Tennessee, Georgia, Dakota, the Gulf, Florida, Utah, Idaho, Montana and Texas.

The committee of arrangements of the national encampment have issued notice that they will furnish all the horses necessary for the commander in chief and commanders of divisions.

THE CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE

The San Francisco "Post" and its Correspondent Ruled off the Floor of the Senate

SACRAMENTO, July 27.—The senate met at 11 o'clock. After the reading of the minutes Boone arose to a question of privilege in relation to an article published in the San Francisco Evening Post last evening, wherein it was charged that Senators Creighton, Boone, Cox, Chauglen, Cross, Dougherty, Brumm, Kelley, Kellogg, Langford, Palmer, Perry, Spencer, Taylor, Wallace, Whitney and Wright had been purchased to vote with the riparians. He said the charge, so far as it related to him, was false. He offered a resolution instructing the sergeant at arms to remove the reporter of that journal from the floor of the senate and hereafter deny the paper the privilege of the chamber.

Cross offered a substitute for the resolution denying the present representative of the paper the privileges of the floor, but not excluding some other representative of the paper in case the paper chose to send one to Sacramento.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—The Evening Post has received a special from Sacramento that the senate, after a debate of an hour and a half, ruled the Post and its correspondent off the floor of the chamber.

STATE DISPATCHES

HOMICIDE NEAR FOREST GROVE.

FOREST GROVE, July 27.—Joseph Pierce, living two miles southwest of here, was shot and killed this afternoon by Isaac Hiatt, his neighbor. Hiatt came in and gave himself up to the authorities. Developments will be made at the coroner's inquest.

THE CUTTING CASE

Better Treatment Extended to the Prisoner—Opinion of Bayard

EL PASO, Texas, July 27.—Cutting remains in jail. The dungeon became so fearfully hot that an order was given to break a small window through the thick adobe wall to admit a little air. Before that there was no ventilation except a small door. His daily allowance for subsistence has been raised from seven to fifty cents a day. Meanwhile Mexican troops are keeping busy at some kind of work in the rear of the barracks and the old cathedral. They deny that they are at work on fortifications or intrenchments, but refuse to state what it is. The attitude of the Mexican authorities shows very clearly that they do not intend to give Cutting up under any circumstances.

Senor Pomos, chief justice of Chihuahua, with Senor Lirson, the governor's private secretary, were in El Paso to-day and had a talk with some of our leading citizens about the Cutting case. They could arrive at no other conclusion than that Cutting was guilty of deliberate and flagrant contempt of the Mexican court, and the offense was committed on Mexican soil coming under Mexican laws. They stated that the publication made by the prisoner in an El Paso newspaper did not figure in the matter at all except as corroborating the charge of contempt based on other acts. Both said the question was now a subject of correspondence between the two governments and would be settled in the ordinary course of diplomacy, but that the government of Mexico could not be scared into an unconditional surrender.

NO CONCLUSION REACHED.

EL PASO, July [illegible].—Consul Brigham of [illegible] says no headway has been made [illegible] [illegible] case of Cutting [illegible] in progress under supervision of the chief justice of the state of Chihuahua, but by the [illegible] that no conclusion has been reached [illegible] Cutting is still in jail.

LABRADOR

[illegible] SUFFERING FROM FAMINE AND COLD.

ST. JOHNS, July 2[illegible].—The schooner Barrett has put in here, bringing the latest news from the Labrador coast. For nearly six weeks she was jammed [illegible] York harbor fifty miles east of North [illegible] river by a field of ice. She brings five famine [illegible] who had reached that point from Sandwich bay, over 100 miles inland, [illegible] [illegible] which they subsisted [illegible] their arrival [illegible] York harbor is crowded with fugitives, but they came from the southern coast and knew nothing of their northern neighbors. On July [illegible] a snowstorm buried Eastern Labrador, cutting off all communication with its population of [illegible] 000 persons. Snow has closed up the trails. [illegible] vessels will make [illegible] direct to York bay to the relief of the first sufferers there.

A White bay dispatch states that whalers report that Hudson bay straits is again frozen over, which is an unprecedented occurrence at this season. A report that the temperature is 10 degrees below zero is however denied. The cold results from immense masses of arctic ice along the coast and it does not extend 200 miles from the sea. Up to date 600 survivors have arrived here. The number that have died is estimated at 250. Since Saturday an east wind has blown off the banks, increasing the firmness of the coast ice.

A THUNDERBOLT STRIKES A WAKE.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 2[illegible].—The aged aunt of Joseph Godd[illegible], a French Canadian, died Saturday and last evening several friends of the family gathered at Godd[illegible]'s cottage to sympathize with them in their bereavement. After a while the mourners began to make merry and a wild scene of hilarity ensued. A terrific thunder storm [illegible] but none of the revelers noticed it. Finally a bolt came down the chimney. The coffin which had been placed close to the fireplace was ripped up as clean as with a razor and the body was reduced almost to a cinder, while Fran[illegible] Garreau and F. X. Bi[illegible], who were standing near, were instantly killed. The rest of the party, some six or seven in all, were rendered insensible by the shock and it was not until late this morning that any of them recovered. When they staggered out and told their story to the neighbors it was hardly credited, but when it was fully realized the superstitious fears of the ignorant peasantry were aroused, and no one would go near the house.

WASHINGTON.

The House Passes the N. P. Forfeiture Bill.

THE SURPLUS CASH RESOLUTION

It Forms a Topic for Consideration at the Cabinet Meeting—The Senate Confirms a Number of Appointments.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Willis of Kentucky, from the conference committee on the river and harbor appropriation bill, reported continued disagreement. He then offered a resolution declaring it to be the sense of the house that the item making an appropriation for a portage on the Lake Erie and Superior ship canal be stricken from the senate amendment and instructing the conference committee accordingly; agreed to—103 to 63.

Willis then offered a resolution instructing the conference committee to insist on striking out the senate amendment making an appropriation for the Hennepin canal. After vigorous debate the resolution was adopted—yeas 1[illegible], nays 112.

On motion of Willis a resolution was adopted instructing the conferees to insist upon striking out the amendment making an appropriation for the Sturgeon bay and Lake Michigan ship canal.

The house then further insisted on its disagreement to the senate amendments.

McMillen of Tennessee offered a resolution instructing the conferees to insist on striking out of the senate amendment the item appropriating $2[illegible],000 for improvement of the Potomac river; agreed to.

A further conference was the ordered.

The house then resumed consideration of the Northern Pacific land forfeiture bill. Payson of Illinois concluded his speech in support of the house substitute, and then the previous question was ordered. The question then recurred upon the house's substitute for the senate bill and was agreed to—yeas 1[illegible]4, nays 6[illegible]. The senate bill as thus amended was passed—yeas 1[illegible], nays 48, and request for a conference made.

Reagan of Texas called up the inter state commerce bill. The speaker announced the question to be upon the substitute reported by the committee on commerce (the Reagan bill) for the senate bill (Cullom's).

Hiscock moved to substitute for the senate bill the measure amended by addition of a clause declaring that it should go into effect January 1st, 1887; rejected—yeas 102, nays 12[illegible]. The house adjourned.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Sewell, from the committee on pensions, reported back the vetoed senate bill granting a pension to Mrs. Annie C. Owen, recommending its passage notwithstanding the president's objections; placed on the calendar.

Allison, from the committee on finance, reported back the house joint resolution directing payment of the surplus in the treasury on the public debt, with an amendment. Beck, member of the committee, stated that this was the report of the majority of the committee, but that the minority adhered to the house resolution; calendar.

Aldrich, from the committee on pensions, reported back two of the vetoed pension bills, with recommendations that they pass.

The senate then went into secret session. Adjourned.

THE SURPLUS RESOLUTION

The Senate Committee on Finance Adds an Important Proviso

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The senate committee on finance agreed by a majority vote this morning to report the Morrison surplus resolution with an amendment. The text of the resolution remains as it came from the house, but the following proviso is attached:

Provided, that no call shall be made under the provisions of this resolution until a sum equal to the call is in the treasury. The secretary, in his discretion, may have in the treasury over and above the foregoing sum a working balance not exceeding twenty millions, and in the case of any extraordinary emergency, and when because thereof, in the opinion of the secretary of the treasury the public interests shall require it, he may by a written order suspend further call for the payment of such indebtedness for such a period of time as shall be necessary to maintain the public credit unimpaired.

The division was upon party lines with the exception of McPherson, who voted with the majority. The minority favored the unamended house resolution.

AT THE CABINET MEETING.

WASHINGTON, July 2[illegible].—One of the topics considered at to-day's cabinet meeting was the Morrison surplus resolution. The sentiment of such of the members as expressed themselves on the question was in entire accord with the views recently expressed by Acting Secretary Fairchild before the senate finance committee. It is said that while the president would prefer the continuance of the present policy of the administration in regard to redemption of bonds he would interpose no objections to the resolution as amended by the senate committee permitting the secretary of the treasury to suspend calls when he deems it necessary to preserve the credit of the government.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS

THE SUNDRY CIVIL BILL.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The appropriation committee of the house has acted upon the amendments of the senate to the sundry civil appropriation bill, non concurring in nearly all those of importance. It recommends concurrence in the clause relating to the silver certificates with an amendment so as to read as follows: The secretary of the treasury is hereby authorized and required to issue silver certificates in denominations of $1, $2 and $5, and the silver certificates herein authorized shall be receivable, redeemable and payable in like manner and for like purposes as provided for silver certificates by an act of February [illegible], 1878, entitled an act to authorize the coinage of standard silver dollars and to restore its legal tender character, and denominations of $1, $2 and $5 may be issued in lieu of silver certificates of larger denominations in the treasury or in exchange therefor upon presentation by holders and to that extent [illegible] certificates of large denomination shall be [illegible] and destroyed. The object of the amendment to the bill made by the committee is to make clear the purpose of the [illegible] that certificates of large denominations may be exchanged for smaller denominations.

PORTLAND, WEDNESDAY, JULY 28, 1886

DOWNFALL OF THE BOYCOTT.

Pretended organizers and leaders of so-called workingmen's movements, pestilent coxcombs like the fellow Haskell who was here from California some months ago, thought they had discovered in the boycott a weapon that gave them immense power in the "war" they had proclaimed against property and business. As the discovery of gunpowder had revolutionized the methods of warfare and made the peasant and serf, hitherto of no account whatever, the equal of the mailed knight on horseback, so the discovery and use of the boycott were to signalize at once a new and equal triumph over the "oppressor,"—the man who employs labor, possesses property or does business. There was a prodigious cackle over the discovery that was to effect the new emancipation or deliverance, and every man against whom the Haskells of the country might see fit to issue their pronunciamentos was to be beggared and ruined at once. And these fellows took long journeys over the country, fulminating their "boycott" at every point, as Haskell did here. Leaders of the local organizations did the same in almost every locality. Upon the slightest provocation and upon no provocation at all, everywhere, anywhere, the boycott was proclaimed. Some few against whom it was directed were terrorized, but most people of sense saw from the first that it was a brutum fulmen, and ridiculous or contemptible. It has failed everywhere, and is only laughed at now.

But it has lasted long enough to let the users of it know that it is a boomerang, an invention that returns to plague the inventor. In many places the persons who were using it have been prosecuted and punished for conspiracy to injure business or extort money. In New York and Connecticut several convictions of this sort have been reported. A boycott was run in New York City against a man named Theiss,—they who ordered it avowing that their object was to show the power of their organization and compel Theiss to run his business to suit it, and the boycott went so far as to include a man who held a mortgage on the property of Theiss to compel him to foreclose it; and finally the managers of the boycott charged Theiss $1000 for removing the embargo from his business. The leaders of this proceeding were indicted for conspiracy and extortion and convicted; and then they set up a loud howl to the effect that they would see to it that men should be sent to the legislature who would repeal the "iniquitous law" under which such convictions could be secured. But it will be a good while, no doubt, before the laws are so adjusted as to permit such proceedings as that against Theiss to go without punishment.

Connecticut has followed New York in closing its gates against the entrance of the boycott. There was a disagreement between the proprietors of the New Haven Courier and some of the employes of the establishment; the men were discharged, and then followed an attempt on their part to compel their own reinstatement and the dismissal of those who had succeeded to their places. This was refused and the next stage was the proclamation of a boycott upon the paper, followed by threats of injury to the business of subscribers and advertisers in case they continued to patronize the proscribed newspaper. Thereupon the proprietors of the paper caused the arrest of the ringleaders and they were indicted and convicted. The case was appealed to the supreme court of the state, which has just rendered a decision which upholds the judgment. The court held, first:

> It is plain that the accused had and have the right to combine, confederate and conspire with any and all others by lawful means to raise and fix the wages of themselves and their associates, and by lawful means to obtain employment for themselves and their associates. The right of the accused is perfect to combine by themselves and with others and say to the Courier: "We ourselves and our associates demand to be employed by you. We won't work for you except under certain conditions and stipulations which we see fit to make." And to obtain and seek such employment for themselves and their associates they may say: "We won't work for you if you see fit to employ any person not associated with us. And if you don't accede to our terms we and our associates will not trade with you. We won't subscribe to your paper, nor advertise, and we will induce all others, so far as we can, to withdraw their patronage."

Having thus defined how far men may rightfully go for the purposes of promoting and protecting their own interests, the court marked the point at which such combination becomes criminal:

> It would be criminally unlawful for the defendants to conspire to obtain employment of said company for themselves, associates and friends, and as a means of compelling the company to yield to their demand, threaten said company and its customers with loss of patronage, and if they added to that threat a threat to continue such withdrawal of patronage unless money was paid to them as a part of the expense of withdrawing such patronage. So it would be an unlawful and criminal conspiracy to agree and conspire among themselves for the purpose of ruining the Courier's business by the concerted means of inducing all persons to withdraw their patronage from the Courier by means of threats to withdraw patronage from such customers and ruin their business.

But if the boycott cannot use these weapons, it is comparatively impotent. It cannot wield the power it was expected to wield unless it is permitted to pass beyond the bounds of lawful combination into those of criminal conspiracy. This neither our courts nor public opinion will permit, and hence the boycott, upon the idea in which it was conceived and so freely proclaimed in all parts of the country not long ago, is a failure. It is repugnant to every principle of justice, fairness and right, and it will not work in the United States.

DAMAGE TO THE RIVER CHANNELS.

Oregon has a special interest in the river and harbor appropriation bill, from the fact that it contains a provision in the nature of a general law, prohibiting the dumping of refuse matter into navigable waters. The statement put forth by Capt. Powell, United States engineer, and quoted by a Washington correspondent in the last SUNDAY OREGONIAN, is in no sense an exaggeration—on the contrary it falls short of the whole truth. It is the custom not only at Portland but all along the Columbia and Willamette rivers to dump all manner of refuse into the streams, much of it being of a sort that sinks when water-soaked to the bottom. In dredging the river bars, it is found that sawdust, water-logged slabs, tin cans, crates, etc., form a large part of the obstructing matter. On the lower river strata of sawdust three feet in thickness have been found. Canneries, as well as the sawmills, throw great quantities of waste matter in the stream, evidences of which are found at every shallow place below them.

The fish traps on the lower Columbia and particularly in Baker's bay are doing much damage to the channels. Each trap with its row of piles has an effect precisely similar to that of a wing-dam and creates a bar, in some cases extending a mile down stream. In Baker's bay there are no less than twenty-five traps and their effect is seen in the gradual shoaling of that bay, once a safe and convenient anchoring ground for large ships. The currents through the bay are slackened and the bottom is gradually raising. The north channel is now impracticable excepting for light craft and Sand island is gradually changing its base and reaching over into the stiller water.

The Marquis of Hartington, the leader of the English liberals of whig antecedents, who joined with the tories, under Salisbury, to defeat Gladstone and Irish home rule, has been a figure in English politics since 1859, when he moved a vote of want of confidence in Lord Derby's ministry. He did not for many years afterward, show any marked capacity for politics. Indeed, until 1874 he seemed rather above than below the average of the house of commons. He is not an eloquent man, but has shown, as the leader of the whig-liberals, strong good sense and firmness of purpose, combined with such skill in debate as constant practice, under the most favorable circumstances, must give to any man not absolutely devoid of all capacity for self-improvement. He is the eldest son of the Duke of Devonshire; Lord Cavendish, murdered several years ago by the Irish nihilists, was his brother. He is a man of courage, candor, of robust common sense, and a fairly effective debater. Lord Hartington visited America during the great civil war, and had the ill-breeding to wear a Confederate badge ostentatiously in his buttonhole, at a large party in New York city, to which he had been invited. His host was a merchant conspicuous for his devotion to the Union cause. There were several Union officers present, and finally one of them tore the badge from Hartington's lapel and put his foot upon it, rebuking Hartington at the same time by asking him if he did not know that while a war was raging, in which his host and many of his guests had friends personally engaged on the Northern side, his act was an insult. Hartington answered that a lady had given it to him and asked him to wear it, and he had kept his promise.

A DISINGENUOUS EXPEDIENT.

The oleomargarine bill, as passed by congress, is thoroughly vicious in principle, and unconstitutional in purpose. Bradstreet's recalls the fact that when an outcry was raised against glucose by the sugar planters on the score of its unhealthfulness, the National Academy of Science was asked by the internal revenue office its opinion on the subject, and the academy answered that glucose was a healthful and useful article of food. The academy would make an equally favorable answer in the case of oleomargarine, but the friends of this sort of legislation dare not ask the question. If the president signs the bill, then, as the New York Evening Post fairly says, the makers of artificial gas ought to appeal to congress to tax the gas wells near Pittsburg that have already displaced the consumption of 46,000,000 bushels of coal. The bill is not a bill to prevent fraud, as Senator Edmunds pretends in debate, for in that case all that the American dairymen could ask of congress is what the English dairymen ask of parliament, viz, a law obliging oleomargarine and all other forms of wholesome animal fats to be clearly stamped and sold as such. The bill is simply taxation by the government of one particular industry for the benefit of another particular industry, not for the purpose of revenue, but to tax the odious industry into the earth. Suppose an importer of French wine should ask the government to tax heavily the California claret of our coast, because it is cheaper and drank by many persons in preference to French wine, what would the Pacific coast think of that sort of legislation? If the importer of French wine asked congress to pass a law that a California wine dealer should not mark his goods "Chateau Larose; Bordeaux," with clear intent to deceive persons seeking a French rather than the California claret there would be no outrage in that, for he would only be asking protection against fraud.

This bill pretends to be a revenue bill, when everybody knows that it is not. Even Senator Edmunds does not defend it on that ground, but assumes it is a mere police bill to prevent fraud. This assumption is absurd and untenable as the other and of course Mr. Edmunds knows it. The great manufacturers of oleomargarine sell it for what it is, and the largest buyers of it are these "honest" dairymen, who mix it with their butter and then sell the compound for what it is not. Senator Ingalls in the debate pointed out that not a pound of unadulterated butter can be bought in any eastern market. The coloring of butter is universal, and the senator from Kansas hit Edmunds a sharp rap when, producing a vial of yellow dye stuff he said:

> This preparation pretends to be manufactured at Burlington, Vermont (the home of Mr. Edmunds), by a firm that makes perfected butter color for dairy purposes—at Burlington, Vermont, where, as elsewhere, dairymen are engaged, in their bucolic simplicity and honesty, in a struggle against the butterine Hercules! This vial of dye-stuff is warranted by the manufacturers to color three hundred pounds of butter, and to give it "a tint like the highest grade of Jersey butter, and no expert can detect it!" It is also warranted to add 5 cents a pound to the value of white butter, and return to the honest butter maker who abhors cheating—a dollar for every cent it cost.

Senator Ingalls might have added that one of the partners in the manufacture of this butter-dye is Gen. William Wells, late U. S. collector at Burlington, whose suspension from office induced Edmunds to make his tremendous racket over removals without cause with the president. The senate has thus far refused, through Senator Edmunds, to confirm the nomination of Smalley, the man who was appointed by the president to succeed the butter-dyeing Wells who plays political Pythias to the Edmunds Damon. The bill is not based on the theory that oleomargarine is unwholesome, for the highest chemical authority declares it wholesome; or that its fradulent sale has lowered the price of butter, for Bradstreet's figures show that to be a lie; it subjects a commodity to a discriminating tax on the pretense that it is for "the general welfare." The bill is really intended to protect the dairy butter business against the competition of a cheap animal fat offered as a substitute for butter. But the only legislation necessary for this is that passed by Massachusetts compelling manufacturers and dealers to offer oleomargarine for sale only for exactly what it is. The Massachusetts bill requires all dealers in imitation butter to take out a license which shall be registered, and to put out a sign to that effect as dealers in imitation jewelry are required to do in France. Of course if oleomargarine is unwholesome it ought not to be licensed or taxed at all, but suppressed, but its enemies dared not go to congress on that ground, because there is no scientific proof that it is hurtful. If it is not hurtful congress has no more business to tax it than it has butter or bread. To tax a wholesome article of food merely because it is cheap and undersells another article is an outrage on the civilized freedom of a republican form of government. The public have a right to know whether they are buying butter or oleomargarine, and with this legal protection against fraud they have a right to buy oleomargarine if they elect to eat it, because it is cheaper than butter. The bill is an attempt through legislation to destroy a large and valuable industry root and branch by taxing it out of existence and giving the dairymen a monopoly in return for the constructive threat or bribe of "the farmers' vote." And this is what "a great constitutional lawyer," on the eve of re-election to the senate in a dairy state calls "legislation for the general welfare."

Sir Charles Dilke, whose retirement from English politics has been forced upon him by the verdict of the jury in the Crawford divorce suit, first rose into public notice in 1872, when he made a motion in the house of commons inquiring into the manner in which the income and allowances of the crown are expended. In the previous autumn he had delivered lectures on the expenses of royalty, and the workingmen's meetings had passed resolutions in support of the young baronet who dared to declare himself a republican and haul royalty over the coals. His speech in support of his resolution was well prepared, well arranged, but Gladstone's reply to him was so merciless in its vehemence that the house of commons became a howling mob. Dilke found himself without any support, except Auberon Herbert and Professor Fawcett. In debate Dilke is quiet, hard, dry, rather labored in style, but distinguished for nerve, calmness and dogged courage.

The new postal regulations permit the sending of well-palled liquids through the mails. And now some enterprising fellow has devised a paper bottle to be used in shipping whisky to Iowa and other prohibition states. With this ingenious contrivance a drink of whisky can be mailed at a cost of 4 cents postage, and any man in Iowa, Maine or Georgia can arrange to have his matutinal cocktail arrive with his morning mail from a neighboring state. The bottle can be used over and over again, and 2 cents postage will return it to the purveyor. The governor of Maine has written to Postmaster-General Vilas, saying it will have the effect of rendering all the prohibition laws of his state of no avail.

It is useless to talk about the "treacherous Columbia river bar." Any man may run a ship ashore there or anywhere else if proper prudence is not observed.

TOO LOW A STANDARD.

Paymaster Watkins of the U. S. navy was recently tried and convicted at Yokohama of embezzlement, and sentenced to three years' imprisonment at hard labor in the penitentiary, at the end of which time he will be dismissed the service. This sentence indicates that breaches of trust in the navy are not so mercifully treated as they were in the army and navy under Presidents Hayes and Arthur. Hayes treated leniently an officer who was convicted of drunkenness on duty, through which his vessel was lost, together with a number of brave seamen, in the Japan waters. The senate recently passed a bill to reimburse Paymaster George W. Candee of the army the amount of $2850, which he claims was stolen from him in 1859 at Fort Smith, Ark., by Capt. Joseph B. Rife of the Sixth infantry. Rife afterwards was detected stealing $1000 from Paymaster Taylor of the army, made a confession, restored the money, and was permitted to resign from the army without suffering trial by court-martial,—a most extraordinary case of impunity.

That an officer of the U. S. army or navy, in view of his high trust, should be a gentleman—that is, a man of honor—goes without saying, and it is but just to say that offenses like lying or theft as a rule discredit an officer with his comrades as quickly as cowardice in the face of the enemy; yet some of the verdicts of army courts-martial under President Arthur indicated a low standard of military honor. Gen. Swaim, one of Garfield's chums, was found guilty of committing a fraud upon a banking house by misrepresenting the facts about a deposit, and of making a statement to the secretary of war concerning this transaction that was evasive, uncandid and false. The court found, in regard to the alleged fraud, that he had committed the fraud "knowingly," and yet in its verdict the word "fraud" was changed to "wrong." The court found the charge of deceiving the secretary of war to be true; that his statement was calculated and intended to deceive the secretary, and yet struck out the word "false" from the specification. Instead of finding Swaim guilty of "conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman," they only found him "guilty of conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline," and sentenced him to "suspension from rank, duty and pay for three years." President Arthur refused to receive the verdict and the sentence, as not commensurate with the offenses found by the court. The court then found that the accused was not "guilty of such degree of wrongful or deceitful conduct as to justify a finding of guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman," and changed the sentence to read, "to be suspended from rank and duty for one year, with forfeiture of all pay for the same period, and at the end of that time to be reduced to the grade of judge advocate with the rank of major." The president refused to approve this verdict, whereupon the court agreed upon a third verdict and sentenced Swaim to suspension from duty for twelve years and placed him on half pay. President Arthur reluctantly approved this verdict, not because he thought it adequate or right, but because he "deemed it for the public interest that the proceedings in the case be not without result." Arthur clearly thought that Swaim ought to be dismissed the service. Instead of being left a half-pay leech on the army chest, and the people agreed with him. This court found a fellow guilty of fraud, guilty of falsehood, and yet refused to say that this was conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman, and made the eccentric decision that an officer who is guilty of only a "degree" of fraud and falsehood shall not be dismissed from the service, but shall be put on half pay for life with no duty in return.

In 1851 the head of the ordnance bureau of the war department was found guilty of unbecoming conduct and dismissed the service because he had made statements to the secretary of war which were false in fact and intent and made with design to deceive. We have degenerated from those days, for in Arthur's last year Col. Morrow was convicted of having sold the same pay account three times, a fraud that in civil life would send a man to the penitentiary, as it is equivalent to selling property free from encumbrance when he has already mortgaged it twice. And yet Col. Morrow got off with a suspension for two years, when he is to be restored to the army, purified by his light penance to be again an "officer and a gentleman." Swaim and Morrow were both inveterate gamblers. Swaim got rich out of his gambling and his gains as an army Shylock who cashed reckless officers' pay accounts at a ruinous shave, while Morrow was a convivial gambler who jumped at fraud when he needed money, and yet the court-martial declined to dismiss Swaim and simply suspended Morrow for a penitentiary offense. In view of these disgraceful verdicts of less than two years ago, the sentence of Paymaster Watkins to the penitentiary and to dismissal is a hopeful sign that the standard of professional honor in the navy at least has risen under Cleveland. The sea lawyers may not be so astute as the acute military jurists that tried Swaim and Morrow, but they manage to kick blacklegs and liars out of the federal service.

The object of Morrison's surplus resolution is explained by the Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post to be that in the fall campaign the democrats "may be able to say that they have proposed to reduce the debt seventy or one hundred millions and that the wicked republicans in the senate would not permit it." The Chicago Times says:

> The only purpose that the introduction of the resolution has served is to render more conspicuous the irreconcilable differences existing between the administration and the leaders of the alleged party with which it is identified upon the most important of current public questions. In other words, it has simply advertised the so called party once more to the country as an organization of fraud and false pretenses, without a single principle or policy upon which its leaders are agreed among themselves, or a definite purpose of any kind to justify its continued existence.

Dr. Funk, the prohibition orator, says that "political parties ought to die every sixteen years." It may be feared that this arraignment of the democratic party for recreancy to duty will not go far in the matter of commending prohibition to the democracy of Oregon.

Governor Moody has been over the Pine creek wagon road and finds, he says, a good road worth all the money given by the state. That settles it; and it will now be in order for those who make the charges to rise up and explain.

If Saunders hadn't run away doubtless the whole thing would have been over sooner than it will be, and he would have been able sooner to get it off his mind. Postponement of a disagreeable thing never betters it.

It is the usual story. The Mobile Register says if there had been as much interest in Paul H. Hayne during his life as there has been since his death, his life would have been a much happier one.

Oregon has more school children than Florida. Florida's number is 66,798, of whom 28,587 are colored. Oregon's number is 82,857.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

The "boodlers" and embezzlers already in Canada are safe. The new extradition treaty is not retroactive.

They are termed "watering places" in the East, but from the howl that is being made at Providence and Newport about prohibition one would infer that these resorts have heretofore been better known by another name.

The postmaster at Fort Keogh, M. T., who declined to vacate in favor of the woman appointed to succeed him, has been ousted in a summary manner by a cowboy admirer of the postmistress. Eight shots were fired.

The largest library is the Bibliotheque National, in Paris, founded by Louis XIV. It contains 1,400,000 volumes, 300,000 pamphlets, 175,000 manuscripts, 300,000 maps and charts, and 150,000 coins and medals. The collections and engravings exceed 1,300,000, contained in some 10,000 volumes.

Suez Canal stock lately fell $15 per share within a single week as a result of the publication of the annual report, which showed a decrease of net revenue from $7,014,870 last year to $5,865,754 this year. The company is about to begin an expensive work of widening and deepening the canal, and this fact also, involving a necessary though temporary reduction of dividends, has harmfully affected the market value of the shares.

This simple tale comes from Georgia: A black cloud emptied itself in the "piney woods" of Laurens county, on a space not exceeding half an acre, and miles from any pond or creek; and with the water were deposited over fifty soft-bell turtles and striped head terrapins, nearly all as large as the bottom of a peck measure.

Taking the vote cast at the British elections last December, which was 4,300,629, it appears that at the election just closed something more than 25 per cent. of the electors remained at home. Had the Gladstonians properly understood the art of "whooping up the boys," they would, doubtless, have had the greater portion of these abstainers at the polls.

A Case Not Beyond Help.

Dr. M. H. Hinsdale, Kewanee, Ill., advises us of a remarkable cure of Consumption. He says: "A neighbor's wife was attacked with violent lung disease, and pronounced beyond help from Quick Consumption. As a last resort the family was persuaded to try DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. To the astonishment of all, by the time she had used one-half dozen bottles she was about the house doing her own work."

BRIEF MENTION

The business this week at the Tivoli is better with the new faces.

No doubt some incredulous people of Walla Walla are now convinced that [illegible] is not Scudders.

Yesterday in the police court Ben Cohen, a clothing drummer, paid $10 for selling goods without license.

Woman's prayer union meets every Wednesday in W C T U hall at [illegible] A full attendance is desired to-day.

C. L. Colbeornsen, a subject of the kingdom of Norway and Sweden, has filed notice of his intention to become a citizen of the United States.

D T Solander, who for the past thirty days has been confined in the county jail for selling liquor to Indians at Pendleton, was yesterday discharged from custody.

The Astorian says: Capt Gibbs was arrested Monday afternoon charged with maltreatment of sailors on his late voyage. He gave bonds in the sum of $[illegible]00 for appearance for examination.

A movement is on foot and steps are being taken by some of the leading men of Puyallup to organize a company for the purpose of building a large hop warehouse at Puyallup, to be used for the storage of hops.

Canton No 1 of the Patriarchs Militant I O O F held a meeting in the temple Monday evening and elected the following officers for the ensuing term: E S Edwards, captain; [illegible] Staples, lieutenant; A. J Magoon, ensign.

Sheriff Blakely of Gilliam county passed through the city yesterday en route home from Salem, where he went to take charge of a man named Shepard, who recently escaped from jail at Arlington and was recaptured in Marion county.

Monday night policeman Austin caught James Holland at the foot of Stark street, trying to beg five cents to cross the ferry. Austin ran the young man in, and yesterday in the police court he pleaded guilty to begging, and was fined $2, in other words, twelve days.

The name of the town of Farwell, B C, has been changed and now sails under the name of Revelstoke. The Baring Bros, bankers in London, who have heavy interests in the Canadian Pacific railroad, suggested the new name, which is also the name of their country place in England.

There is a very perceptible and steady increase in the amount of business being done by the various railroads centering here. A year or two ago the rush lasted only two or three months in the year, but now it has become a steady thing. There is now a considerable amount of goods coming across the country in bond. One firm received a lot from Liverpool direct yesterday. This will increase the receipts of the custom house here.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

A TRIP OVER THE CANADIAN PACIFIC.—Mr Wm Dunbar arrived home yesterday from Winnipeg, Manitoba. He went by way of the Canadian Pacific and on returning came from Winnipeg to Minneapolis and thence over the Northern. He says that the railroad from Port Moody to the town of Vancouver is almost completed and that there are now in the latter town about [illegible]00 rough cheap buildings put up since the fire. He was three and a half days going from Port Moody to Winnipeg. The road is a comfortable one to travel on being well equipped with sleeping and dining cars. Only five through passengers left Port Moody, but after passing the Rockies there was considerable local travel. The road follows the Columbia for a long distance. All the way along the Fraser, above Yale, the banks were lined with Indians busy catching and drying salmon, of which they secure great numbers. The scenery through the Selkirk and Rocky mountains is very grand and beautiful. The company has 2000 men employed in building 100 miles of snow sheds, using 12x12 timbers for frames. From Calgarry to Brandon, a distance of about 500 miles, the country is a desert prairie without grass or water. At several stations the railroad company has plowed and sowed tracts of this land to see if it would grow grain. The wheat on this land is about nine inches high and is headed out and dried up. About 200 miles this side of Winnipeg a fertile farming country is reached, a part of the Red river valley, which extends the rest of the way to the city. Winnipeg is a city of about 25,000 inhabitants, and is the distributing point for a large tract of country. There are a large number of wholesale houses. There are three flouring mills and an oatmeal mill, but not many manufactories. The citizens are live and energetic, and consist of just the proper mixture of English and American to make good business men. They all seem to pull together and are not divided into cliques, as in some places. The city is in a vast treeless plain, and fuel is very scarce. Everything is used for fuel that will burn. Even sawdust which has floated down the river and been deposited in shallow places is got out, dried and used for fuel.

THE PINE CREEK ROAD.—Governor Moody returned yesterday from his trip to the Pine creek district and was seen by an OREGONIAN reporter at the St Charles. He had been invited to view the new road from Goose creek to Pine creek for the building of which the legislature appropriated $14,000, and concerning the expenditure of which there has been some criticism. Governor Moody drove over the road which is twenty eight miles in length and is of the opinion that the money has been judiciously expended. To build a road that length, with all except a few miles of it on grades, and with considerable rock work to be done and one quite expensive bridge to build, he thinks would use up the appropriation. The road is through and the workmen are now coming back over it and putting on the finishing touches. The turnouts are still to be built, which will require further expenditure. The governor's visit was unofficial, he having no control over the expenditure of the appropriation which was placed in the hands of the commissioners by the legislature. The commissioners will make their report in a few days. Gov Moody visited the mines at Pine creek and brought away many samples of ore. He says he is no mining expert and has no idea of the richness of the mines. One shaft is down 1[illegible]6 feet and a considerable amount of rock has been taken out of different leads and is waiting for the mill which is soon expected. Messrs Tolman and McKercher have two concentrators coming from San Francisco, and other machinery will be ready for putting up about the 1st of the month. Then we shall expect to see gold bricks coming down from Pine Creek by the cartload.

CHINESE BURGLAR CAUGHT.—Monday afternoon, about [illegible] o'clock, Ah Sing, a Chinaman, was caught in the act of robbing the residence of H Wolfe, at 218 Ninth street, corner of Yamhill. The heathen entered the house by way of the cellar and from there gained entrance to the kitchen and thence passed upstairs to the front bedroom. The celestial ransacked a bureau, obtaining $45 in money, a lady's gold watch, diamond ring, gold ring and several other articles. Mrs Wolfe, who had been out to the butcher shop, returned just about the time the heathen had completed operations. She heard a noise upstairs and ascending met the thief in the hallway. She interrogated him as to his business, when he replied that he was after washing. This story, however, didn't wash, the lady instead requesting Ah Sing to empty his pocket. On this request being made, Sing pushed Mrs Wolfe aside, made through the door and up the street, she following. He was overhauled at the corner and held for a policeman. In the police court yesterday Ah Sing was arraigned for larceny and for burglary. He waived examination on both charges to appear before the grand jury. During the chase up the street, the Chinaman threw some of the property over a fence. Most of it has been recovered.

ATTEMPT TO WRECK A TRAIN.—Says the Salem Statesman: From Miss Lena Breyman, who returned home from Yaquina bay yesterday, information of a dastardly attempt to wreck the train on the Oregon Pacific railroad, yesterday, was gleaned. The east-bound passenger train had just passed the summit and had started down the grade of the coast range, when, on coming around a curve, the sharp eyes of the engineer discovered a rail laying across the track, but a short distance ahead. He at once whistled for "brakes" and reversed his engine, but he had not time enough to entirely stop the train, and his engine struck the rail, and dodged off smoothly on to the ties. After an hour's delay the engine was placed on the track, but little the worse for the accident, and the train came into Corvallis but a few minutes behind time. Nobody hurt. The engineer and entire train crew were very cool over the accident, and to the engineer's coolheadedness is due the saving of many lives. No blame can possibly attach to the railroad company or any of its employes for the accident.

RELIGIOUS NOTES.—Rev F W Caswell, pastor of Grace Methodist Episcopal church, reports his young charge as rapidly growing. Thirty-eight persons have been received into membership during the past two weeks, making a total of [illegible] members and probationers to date. Other churches of the city have been receiving members recently as a portion of the fruits of the Tabernacle meetings last winter. It is expected that revival services will be opened in the Tabernacle adjoining Grace church during the coming fall. Sam Jones and other evangelists have already been corresponded with. The Tabernacle is the best audience room in the [illegible] popular gatherings as well as for religious [illegible] [illegible] Mr Caswell [illegible] [illegible] citizens of Portland in the [illegible] during [illegible] visit [illegible] sometime in August. A definite announcement will be made [illegible].

RUSH OF OCEAN TRAVEL.—A hotel keeper of this city received a dispatch from a friend in Walla Walla asking him to secure a stateroom on the [illegible] steamer for three ladies. Pretty well aware of the state of things, the hotel man at once rushed down to Ash-street dock and applied to that bland and smiling juggler of tickets, Al Maxwell, for a stateroom for three. "Nary a stateroom left," was the reply, "and very little floor room." This answer was at once telegraphed to Walla Walla, and word came back, "Secure floor room; the ladies must go." From this an idea can be formed of the number of persons traveling San Franciscoward at present. Still the rush northward is greater. In San Francisco the agents sell tickets "O T and U T" on the table and under the table, and the U T's are usually all taken a day or two before the steamer starts. An O T berth is not very desirable, yet a few are sold every trip.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR VISITORS.—The Shoshone baseball club, or, as they call themselves, the Oregon Short Line club, have had an "unbroken chain of victories" since they reached this state. They defeated the Baker Citys 18 to 1 on Sunday, and at La Grande on Monday they defeated the local club there 37 to 1. Most of the Shoshone nine are employes of the Oregon Short Line shops at Shoshone, and from the scores they have made must be sluggers. They are the first visiting club in Portland this season, and the park, no doubt, will be crowded to see them next Saturday and Sunday. Pools on both games will be sold Friday evening at the Club Saloon 124 First street.

CASE CONTINUED.—In the police court yesterday Ned Hart was arraigned on a charge of assault and battery, and Steve Gregory for discharging firearms within the city limits. They each pleaded not guilty and asked a continuance of their cases for trial until to-day, and the request was granted. This is the case reported as having occurred Monday night in a saloon at the northwest corner of Second and B streets. Hart struck over the counter at Gregory, who it is said then took a pop at Hart. Both were arrested yesterday morning.

GIRL MISSING.—Word was left at the police station last night that Anna Anderson disappeared last Saturday morning from Mrs Wiggins's, 103 Morrison street, where she has been employed at dressmaking and has not been heard of since. She is a native of Sweden, 17 years old, and walks lame. She has relatives in Portland. Mr. Wilson, who runs the Stockholm house, is her uncle.

ROBBERY AND QUICK CAPTURE.—Yesterday morning, between 4 and 5 o'clock, the dwelling of R. Glenn, near Fairview, a few miles east of the city, was entered by a burglar or burglars, who secured considerable booty. Mr Glenn has a cheese factory, and he and all hands began work about 4 o'clock, and at the time of the robbery no one was about the building. The thief went into Mr Glenn's bedroom, took $150 in coin, his gold watch, and his coat and vest. In the coat pocket was a note for $700, which Mr Glenn had indorsed. It was evident that the burglar was well acquainted with the premises, because he went only into Mr Glenn's room. The loss was promptly reported to the police authorities here, and late last night night Detective Barry arrested a young man in a saloon near the First street bridge, who no doubt, is the criminal. The $700 note was found on his person. He claimed that his name was R. Glenn. Later the watch also was recovered, but the money is still missing.

BETTER THAN ORAL COMMUNICATION.—It was a novel sight to see the 100 deaf mutes on the Columbia last Sunday morning talking to each other, remarks the Astorian. Ordinary Eastern visitors who have read Washington Irving's "Astoria" and all that sort of thing, and who have an idea that we sleep under hemlock trees all day and catch beavers and mink and things all night, come cautiously in and after satisfying themselves that it is a real, live Caucasian and apparently harmless, they pull out the cork and gurgle gligety glug about fourteen questions a minute. But the mutes didn't. They just stared and gathering in little knots, commenced what seemed a pantomime. Such gestures and motions and snapping of fingers and silent laughter. They evidently enjoyed themselves, and in one way it was an improvement on the crowd of giggling bores who appear to look on this part of the earth as a kind of panorama spread out to look at every morning, and rolled up and put behind the woodbox every night.

HER NEIGHBOR'S BOY.—Yesterday Mrs. Almira Burns, who dwells back of East Portland, was tried before Justice Tuttle for assault and battery on Henry Huntington, a seven year old youngster. The Burns and Huntington residences adjoin one another, the Burns leasing from the Huntington's. Recently the two families have had some trouble and on the [illegible]th of the present month the Huntington boy was sent on an errand and on his way crossed the Burns property. The complaint is that Mrs Burns caught hold of and threw the youngster down on to the ground. She says he slipped and fell. The court will pass on the case to-day. The other side of the question has only lately been passed upon by Justice Bullock. In that instance the Huntingtons were the defendants.

COUNTER DIVORCE SUIT.—Some days ago Erastus Rosecrans sued Mary Jane Rosecrans for a divorce in the state circuit court, on the grounds of desertion. Yesterday she filed an answer to the complaint, in which she set up a counter action and asked the court to compel Erastus to pay $150 into court to enable her to prosecute the suit. He claims she deserted him. This she doesn't deny, but alleges she was compelled to do so for fear of bodily harm, and that she has lived apart from him, off and on, since 18[illegible]8. She denies his allegation of adultery and asks to be awarded the care of her children, Dinah J 16, Georgie Ann 14, William F 11, Minnie Rosie 9, Eldio 6, and Helena [illegible] 2 years. The parties were married in 1865 in Clackamas county.

WANTS A DIVORCE.—An action for a divorce has been commenced in the state circuit court by Mary E Murphy, who seeks to be released from the matrimonial knot binding her to John B Murphy, and to be allowed to resume her maiden name, Mary E Kuhn. They were married May 3 1884, at Vancouver. Plaintiff complains that defendant became addicted to the use of intoxicants, used her harshly and neglected to provide for her wants, also that he on one occasion threatened her life. The couple have no children. As the defendant has left the state an order of publication of summons was made yesterday.

SAUNDERS'S COWARDICE.—In the absence of anything else to talk about, the capture of Saunders was the subject of discussion all over town yesterday. Much surprise was expressed over the fact that he had surrendered without a struggle. It was argued that Saunders knew ignominious death upon the scaffold would be the result of his capture, and that he would naturally prefer death at the hands of his pursuers. Saunders is an opium fiend and no man can use the drug without losing all moral and physical courage. Opium makes cowards of them all.

ASSAULT WITH A CANE.—William Wright, a hackman, was arrested by Constable Sprague on a charge of assaulting William Flynn with a loaded cane. It seems that a night or so ago Flynn and a friend were passing a saloon in the south end of town and hearing music inside dropped in for a few minutes. While in the place Flynn claims Wright attacked him without cause. In default of $500 bonds Wright was locked up in the county jail to await his examination this morning at 10 o'clock. The true facts in the case will then be elicited.

SHE WAS NOT UNLAWFULLY DISORDERLY.—The Gallagher-Cohen case was ventilated in the police court yesterday, and resulted in the acquittal of Mrs. Gallagher. Nothing was brought out in the evidence that differed from the accounts already published. It was shown that Mrs Gallagher marched up and down in front of the restaurant, claiming she had been cheated and so on. The court by its decision however seemed to think that she had not acted disorderly, nor unduly boisterous.

ALLEGATIONS ONLY.—An item published yesterday concerning a suit brought by Elijal Smith and others against S G Reed (the Oswego iron works suit), was simply a condensed statement of what the plaintiffs allege in their complaint. THE OREGONIAN did not do the alleging. The litigation begun in the state circuit court is over very much the same ground as traversed by the cases of Seeley against Reed in the United States courts, which Reed in the end won.

THE BATTLE OF THE PLUMS.—As a reply to the challenge of E P Wright, of Willsburg, Mr Chas Henry of Craigie Mount farm yesterday, presented to the State Board of Immigration twelve peach plums which together weigh [illegible]4 ounces, beating Mr. Wright's record about eight ounces. Twenty six plums fill a gallon jar.

U S CIRCUIT COURT.—Judge Deady will deliver an opinion in this court this morning in the case of Seeley vs. Reed.

ADMINISTRATOR APPOINTED

County Judge [illegible] yesterday appointed [illegible] H [illegible] administrator of [illegible] Thomas M Hensill deceased, with bonds fixed at $[illegible]. The [illegible] M Hensill died intestate Jun[illegible] 1[illegible] at [illegible]. Deceased left as assets [illegible] loaned to M J Hensill, secured by a mortgage on stock [illegible] Portland, bearing interest at 1 per cent [illegible] month from January 20, 1885, and due and payable in five years from the above mentioned date. S M Hensill, who is the father of the deceased, petitioned for letters of administration and in his petition alleged that the [illegible] sake has never been paid off.

CASES APPEALED

July 6 Judge Stearns rendered a decree in favor of W S Powell, H B Branson and [illegible] 150 others against the Willamette Valley railway company, Oregonian railway company and Oregon railway company for services rendered for the companies ranging in various amounts from $20 upwards. Yesterday notice of appeal to the supreme court was filed by defendants.

March 30 1886, Joseph M Bloomfield got judgment in the state circuit court against W J Becannon, Isaac W Buchanan and Joseph M Leavens for $2650 22. Defendants have filed notice of an appeal to the supreme court. This is a case wherein Bloomfield claimed to have a partnership interest with Becannon et al in a government contract for supplying hay, etc.

DROWNED AT NORTH BEACH.

Alfred S. Frank, the Portland Lawyer, meets Death while Bathing in the Surf Yesterday

Last night Mr Geo P Frank received the following dispatch dated Tinkerville, North Beach, 7.35 P M:

Alfred S Frank went bathing at 4 P M and has not been seen since.

It was signed by Mr Reamer, a friend of the family, and in his kindness he employed the least shocking expression he could command to convey the intelligence that Mr Frank was drowned. The message was telephoned to Cape Hancock and then telegraphed here. Mr Frank Wooley, another friend of the Frank families, received a message from Mr Reamer stating that Alfred Frank was drowned at 4 P M while bathing.

He had recently built a cottage on North Beach and left a few days since with his wife and two children to spend a season at the ocean.

As soon as possible after the receipt of the sad news, Mr George Frank chartered the steamer Alice at 11 o'clock last night and left for the coast.

DEMPSEY BRADY

The Champion Middle Weight of the World takes to Himself a Bride.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Brady to Mr Jack Dempsey took place in St. Francis church, East Portland, at 10 30 yesterday morning. A full half hour before the appointed time every seat in the large auditorium was occupied, and crowds were compelled to stand, the side aisles being filled with spectators. The chancel was handsomely ornamented with bouquets, and the large images of the Savior and Virgin Mary were also florally decorated. At 10.30 the bridal party arrived, and marched down the aisle in the following order: The bride, accompanied by Mr Daniel Mulligan, groomsman; the groom accompanied by Miss Alice Ward of Portland, bridesmaid; the father and mother of the bride, Mr and Mrs James B Brady.

The bride was dressed in a rich tan-colored satin trimmed with velvet. The groom was arrayed in the regulation swallow tail broadcloth.

The party immediately took their places inside the altar, where they were met by Rev Father Louis Verhaag, who performed the ceremony. Upon the conclusion of the impressive rites St. Peter's grand mass was sung and celebrated, after which the reverend father delivered a brief discourse setting forth the beauties of religion and the importance of taking it into all the relations of life. He dwelt especially upon the sacred character of marriage, and exhorted the newly-wedded couple to be faithful to the pledges just made.

At the conclusion of the services Mr and Mrs Dempsey were the recipients of numerous congratulations and best wishes, many who were not personally acquainted with the groom lingering to grasp him by the hand. The happy pair were then driven to the residence of the bride's parents in Stephens addition, where a social good time was enjoyed. To-morrow the couple will leave for Clatsop, at which place they will enjoy their honeymoon, after which it is understood they will return to Portland to reside permanently.

THE POISON CASE

Preliminary Examination of C W Helmer before Justice Bullock.

The case of Charles W Helmer, accused of poisoning the cistern of John Howard, came up for preliminary hearing before Justice Bullock, of East Portland, at [illegible] P M yesterday. The testimony of Howard and his wife and J H Fisk proved conclusively that arsenic had been placed in the cistern by some person unknown between Friday night at [illegible] o'clock and Saturday morning at [illegible] o'clock. It was also proved conclusively from the evidence of the first two witnesses and others that ill feeling had existed between Helmer and the Howards for some time past in consequence of a twenty acre tract of government land claimed by both parties. Dr Coley testified to having sold 25 cents worth of arsenic to a man about a week ago, but did not think the prisoner was the man; thought the person who bought the poison was of more slender build. Mrs Howard, on re-examination, said she had measured footprints in the dust which were made by a person coming from the direction in which Helmer lived, ending in front of her gate and returning in the same direction. She produced the measures which, on test, were found to nearly fit defendant's foot. John Shobeck and Amanda Shobeck testified that defendant was at their house, two miles from the scene of the alleged poisoning, until 11 30 o'clock on Friday evening, and N F Fake and wife, brother in law and sister of the accused, swore that Helmer came in and went to bed at their house about 12 o'clock on the same evening, that he did not leave the house after retiring, and that they saw him come down stairs in the morning. Defendant testified in his own behalf that he had placed no poison in the pump in question and did not know, in fact, that the Howards had a cistern. A Mrs McKnight, who was present in Coley's drug store at the time the poison was sold, is said to have declared her ability to positively identify the man who bought it, but the constable was unable to find her. In order to secure the presence of this witness, the court continued further hearing of the case till 1 O P M to-morrow.

DROWNED IN THE COLUMBIA

A Ferryman Meets a Watery Grave near Arlington—Narrow Escape of his Companion

ARLINGTON, Or, July 20.—William Fallen, a sixteen year old son of James Fallen, living across the river from this place, shot himself accidentally yesterday with a 22-calibre pistol, the ball going through his left hand and lodging in his leg near the knee. Tony Weaver and M H Farley, ferrymen, brought him across the river in a skiff during a storm for medical attendance, and in returning the boat capsized when in the middle of the river. Both men succeeded in getting hold of the boat, but Weaver was knocked off by the waves, and perished in sight of a large crowd which gathered at the bank of the river, but could render no assistance, as there was no [illegible] and the river was too rough for any [illegible] attempt to rescue him, even [illegible] they got [illegible] in time. Farley succeeded in keeping [illegible] that [illegible] [illegible] ashore [illegible] [illegible] two [illegible] miles below [illegible] [illegible] insensible. AN AGREEABLE SURPRISE [illegible] evening [illegible] week Mrs A R Riggs, the retiring president of the [illegible] W C T U, was made the recipient of a very pleasant surprise by about forty or fifty of her friends and co-workers assembling at her residence, who, after the usual greetings,—as they had come with well filled baskets,—prepared to serve refreshments on the cool and shady lawn. The tables were beautifully decorated with choice fruits and flowers. After all had bountifully partaken of the refreshments, the chairs were removed to a suitable place on the lawn, when Mrs Murton, Mrs Riggs's successor in office, called the assembly to order, and after a few appropriate remarks announced that Miss Myra [illegible], assistant secretary of the W C T U, would now read the resolutions prepared for the occasion, to which Mrs Riggs responded in a very appropriate manner.

Miss Josie Parrott was then called, who in a few appropriate words presented to Mrs Riggs, as a testimonial of her invaluable services, a neat little handbag containing $50, and bearing her name in monogram engraved upon a silver shield, also the letters "W C T U" and "1886." At this she was completely overcome and said she would have to ask Rev Mr Holt to make a speech for her, but he declined, saying a speech would be like the contents of the bag—silver—while silence was golden.

Mrs J G Johnson was then called upon for a song, and tears were called while the whole atmosphere was filled with the music of "Blest be the tie that binds." After which the friends dispersed, having spent an evening long to be remembered.

Among those present were Rev. and Mrs Chandler, Rev and Mrs Caswell, Rev and Mrs. Holt, Mr and Mrs J G Johnson, Mrs Murton, Mrs Holbrook, Mrs Congle, Mrs Dalziel, Mrs Dr Owens Adair, Mrs Dr J G Hill of North Yakima, W T, Dr Hunt, Mrs Cooper, the Misses Webb of Salem, and many others.

The following are the resolutions:

WHEREAS, Our beloved president, Mrs A R Riggs, has been obliged to resign her office as president of the local Union to accept the position as president of our state work, and

WHEREAS, she has served us faithfully and self sacrificingly for the period of four years as an able and efficient officer, therefore be it

Resolved, First, that in accepting the resignation of Mrs. Riggs we feel that our Union will sustain a great loss, but we are consoled by the thought that she will yet be with us, and that her promotion will enable her to further advance the great work to which she has so nobly dedicated her all.

Resolved, Second, that her consistent Christian [illegible] and her patient persist[illegible] [illegible] of our [illegible] [illegible] that she has been [illegible] the chief [illegible] the officer of the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] device for the furtherance of our great [illegible].

Resolved, Third, that we also feel [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] noble and [illegible] for his [illegible] [illegible] sister [illegible] aid in carrying [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] duties of her office.

Resolved, Fourth, that we congratulate [illegible] upon the honors which have been conferred [illegible] her and the W C T U of the state of Oregon [illegible] more that they have an executive officer who is capable of filling the duties of any office which in the allotment of Divine Providence may be devolved upon her. To her that we do not bid our friends Mr and Mrs Riggs adieu, but we pledge them our fidelity to the cause and our life long friendship to them as co-laborers in the grand est field of God's moral vineyard.

FIGHTING FIRE [illegible]NG[illegible]E HANDED

How One Man Saved a Mining Town from Destruction

A correspondent of the Stevens county Miner writes as follows from Metaline, W T, under date of July 1[illegible]. The volunteer fireman referred to is Mr Barclay, formerly manager for Wm Hume at Eagle Cliff:

The town of Metaline had a narrow escape on the 15th inst, from total destruction by fire. Some miners who were in town on the 13th built a "smudge" for the purpose of keeping the flies off their horses, and when they left it on the 14th, did not extinguish the smouldering fire. It chanced that all the miners had gone to the mountains prospecting, leaving only Mr. J J Barclay, who had come to town to await the arrival of his letters.

At 11 A M a strong breeze sprung up and in a short time the timber, and even the surface of the soil in the main street was in a blaze. Mr Barclay, who is in the mountains for his health, found himself alone and but poorly prepared to battle with the flames, but he hunted up a large bucket and hastened to the river, about fifty yards distant, and before his attack upon the raging element, finding the heat in the front of the flames so intense that he could not endure it, he was forced to confine his attention to the sides of the burning section, and with all his power he worked to keep the fire in the middle of the street, which is 100 feet in width, and to protect the buildings on each side as the flames progressed onward down the avenue. He worked until 6 P M, when the wind went down. He then succeeded in warding off the advance of the fire as it approached the separate houses, and in some instances the fire entered between the buildings. He probably had a line of flame 400 feet front, against which his individual efforts were successfully directed. When the fire approached the store house in which was stored the supplies, powder, dynamite, etc, Mr Barclay says he was under the impression that he would be defeated, but he scarcely remembered anything beyond the fact that he never carried so much water before in so short a space of time. In front of the store house the ground is burned to within three feet of the building.

We have been calling Mr Barclay our "tenderfoot" friend, but that is over, and at a meeting of the inhabitants of the town on the night of the 17th he was congratulated upon his pluck and persistency in saving other people's property. I wish you could have heard his modest reply to the resolutions. He requested all to notify him when they next intended to leave town so that he might accompany them. To his individual efforts we owe the preservation of the town.

Call for a Convention of the Eastern Washington Union

To the Woman's Christian Temperance Unions of East Washington territory: Our annual convention will be held at Colfax, beginning Tuesday, August [illegible] at 4 P M, and continuing through Wednesday and Thursday, August 4 and 5.

A meeting of the executive committee will be held on Tuesday morning at 9 30, also a meeting of the same committee on Friday. Each local union is entitled to one delegate and one additional delegate for every twenty members for which salary members[illegible] dues have been paid to the eastern territorial union. [illegible] that are not paid should be sent at once to Mrs A. [illegible] Crystal, Spokane Falls.

Superintendents and vice presidents in organized as well as unorganized counties [illegible] requested to prepare written reports of work during the year. Send names of delegates to Mrs [illegible] Trimble, Colfax, as early as possible.

Let the annual convention be remembered in your prayer meetings in the local unions.

THE JEFFREYS-LEWIS ENGAGEMENT.—Mr Harry Marshall and the principal members of the company which will support Miss Jeffreys Lewis during her coming engagement here will sail on the State for Portland this morning. The company is largely composed of her support in the production of [illegible] in San Francisco several weeks since. This will probably be her opening piece here. Miss Lewis will leave for New York immediately after her engagement here, having been engaged by the Frohmans expressly for a production there of "Nadjezda." This was Modjeska's opening play at the Baldwin theater two weeks ago. Miss Lewis's engagement lasts one week only and commences August [illegible].

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

OREGON.

JOSEPHINE COUNTY.

Hon Geo W Riddle reports crops rather short in Cow creek valley, but quality good.

Ed Hathway of Kerbyville has been appointed school superintendent, vice A. J. Chapman, deceased.

Work on the public buildings and the bridges across Rogue river and the Applegate is well under way.

A son of Sidney Andrews of Jones creek who was bitten in the hand by a rattlesnake last week, is convalescent.

JACKSONVILLE.

The board of trustees of Medford have appropriated $100 to encourage the organization of a brass band.

Conrad Mingus and W. W. Cardwell were both kicked by horses this week but neither received serious injuries.

J. Robb, father of Mesdames Lance and Justus, died last Sunday of paralysis. He was near ly 80 years of age.

Tom Turner, of Jacksonville, has gone to Portland, to take a position as chief night clerk in the telegraph office there.

Teams will be able to cross Rogue river on the new bridge in about five weeks. The Applegate bridge will be finished not long afterwards.

Gov Moody has been petitioned to pardon George B. Justus, who was sent to the penitentiary from Jackson county in November, 1884, for manslaughter.

KLAMATH COUNTY.

W. A. Leonard, of Sprague river valley, had two of his ribs broken by a kick from a horse recently.

Oliver McFarland, of Benton county, has been appointed superintendent of the Indian school at Klamath agency and his wife matron.

Bishop Morris and the Rev Mr Potwine will hold services at Linkville on Sunday, July 25, a Fort Klamath Sunday August 1, and at Bonanza Thursday, August 5.

The military telegraph between Ashland and Linkville has been out of order again. The trouble is there is not a sufficiency of poles, the wire being unsupported for several rods in many places along the line. This must be remedied if an efficient service is desired.

Mr. Woodward, the California buyer, who bought a number of horses in Jackson and Klamath counties last year, has made more purchases in this section recently. Wells & Slade of Sprague river valley sold a number from their fine band, the price paid being $80 per head.

LINN COUNTY.

John Canavan had his arm broken last Saturday, near Tangent, while hauling hay. In binding on the load the binding pole broke throwing him heavily upon the ground. He fell upon his left arm, breaking both bones of the fore arm.

A young man by the name of John Philips, whose family reside near Corvallis, was probably fatally injured at Hunt's camp by a tree falling on his head and breast. The collar bone and jaw bone were both broken. He was also badly bruised and injured internally.

John M Irving, postmaster at Albany, has sent to A. F. Wheeler of Salem, a beautiful magnolia blossom which was grown at Albany in open air. These beautiful and fragrant flowers are quite common in Florida and tropical climes, but they are a novelty for Oregon.

The application of Henry Schooling in the court at Pendleton to have himself removed from the care of his guardian, James Schooling, his nephew, both of whom reside at Harrisburg, Linn county, and to have his property again put into his own possession, which has been pending for some time, has been decided by being denied and leaving his property still in the hands of his guardian.

MORROW COUNTY.

An unused well on a pre-emption claim south of Heppner was accidentally examined this week and found to contain the bodies of a large steer and two colts. Where stock is running out wells should not be allowed to lie around out doors, but rather should be taken in or well covered at the upper end.

A letter from the Hayes & Curtis sheep drove says that the outfit has reached Rinehart's stone house, above the mouth of the Malheur, and had lost 300 head of sheep. The cause of the loss is supposed to have been poison. The Joe Hayes outfit, following over the same route, a few days behind, had lost none of their sheep.

Heppner Gazette: The Morrow county jail now contains J. E. Glascock, who is charged with committing rape on a poor, weak woman near Ella postoffice. It is charged that he went to her house early in the morning, while her husband was away in an adjoining field, and finding the woman still in bed, he sprang upon her and forced her to submit to his devilish desires. He then lit out, but was followed by a constable and captured at Centerville. Glascock has a worthy wife, nine children and an aged father and mother in the Ella neighborhood. He deserves no sympathy, but his poor family does.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

YAKIMA.

J. T. V. Clark, of North Yakima, will pay $100 per ton for merchantable broom corn. A large number of acres were planted this year in the Ahtanum and Cowiche valleys through the advice and management of Mr Clark.

COWLITZ COUNTY.

Osgood Bullock caught 100 catfish in two hours at Silver lake or just as fast as he could bait his hook and haul out the fish.

Abner Migard of Olequa, has found a vein of paraffine upon his ranch earth pitch. He has sent samples to Portland, Tacoma and the Eastern states for assay.

STEVENS COUNTY.

The Reporter says Colville needs a bank but not a faro bank. And it further says it needs a smelter.

Murder: Last winter Nelson LaMarche, well known to the people of the Colville valley, went to Sheep creek where he expected to remain during the summer. A short time ago he was found dead in the creek and had a deep incision in his head, evidently made by a blow with a club.

CHEHALIS.

Miss Minnie Newland, only daughter of T. W. Newland, was thrown from her horse yesterday evening while riding in company with Miss Burke, and received, it is feared, fatal injuries. The two young ladies were riding at an unusual gait along a good road and her horse balking suddenly, the fastening of her saddle gave way precipitating her to the ground. Her head struck some hard substance with such force that the concussion caused unconsciousness, and at the expiration of twenty four hours she was still in the same condition.

KITTITAS COUNTY.

Leonhard's saw mill engine was crushed by a falling tree this week, while in transit toward the tunnel.

Ephraim Allyn, with a party was up last week on the head of Cle Elum lake where they discovered a ledge of quartz which is thought to be rich with silver.

Localizer: Ellensburgh will soon have a bank. The next thing in order will be waterworks. A tanner to tan hides. A smelter or a good assay office would be a good thing. There is a lot of mineral in our mountains but no means of ascertaining its worth. One small smelter on the Teanaway would be of great value to the whole mineral district. Who will be the man or men to erect one.

Chris. Anderson, a bachelor, who has a ranch on the Teanaway, and Mr Griffin, recently from Portland, were examined before Probate Judge Davis last Saturday and adjudged insane. Anderson was recently returned from the asylum pronounced sane. Griffin has recently had a protracted spree, and is now decidedly of the belief that he is pursued by shades, demons and red handed fiends.

NEWSPAPER TALK.

The Kittitas Localizer, D. J. Schnebly editor has reached its fourth volume.

The Ashland Tidings came out in a new dress last week. It is one of the most prosperous and best conducted papers in the state.

SOUTHERN OREGON MINES.

Ashland Tidings.

Another quartz mill [illegible] on Wagner creek.

The season's run will soon be completed at the Sterling mine.

New locations continue to be made in the Wagner creek district.

L. D. Brown's mill has resumed crushing ore from Swinden's ledge.

Piping has been suspended at McCall & Anderson's mines, two miles this side of Ashland.

Patterson & Co., who are mining on Grouse creek, in the Siskiyous, are doing well this season.

J. N. Casteel is finishing up his contract with the Jacksonville Milling and Mining Co., but finds the rock quite hard and progress slow. He has commenced running a tunnel to tap C. C. Beekman's ledges.

Lance, Duffield & Co. of Foots creek are finishing up, and have done very well this season in their placer claims.

Wimer & Sons, of Waldo, are cleaning up their season's work, and no doubt their big mine has paid them as well as ever.

Two different parties have offered to put up a mill on the site of the Hope ledge in the Wagner creek district, which prospects well.

P. Lyttleton, J. H. Russell, J. L. Pennington and others are prospecting a ledge near Ashland, which is at present narrow but rich.

A party consisting of Messrs. Dollarhide, Smith, Hawkins and Barnes are opening a new placer mine on Beaver creek, with good prospects.

Blalock, Owings & Co. are still engaged in pulverizing cement at their claim on Jackson creek with sledges and washing the pulp in a rocker, with good results.

The Eureka Mining Co. are testing quartz from their ledge in Willow Springs precinct by means of an arastra, which crushes 600 pounds of quartz daily, with favorable results.

The shaft now being sunk on the Wagner Creek Mining Co's ledge, known as the Pilgrim, has reached a considerable depth, and the ore shows considerable of an improvement.

Baumle, Klippel & Co. have broken ground for their new quartz mill on Shively gulch and mean business. Mr K. will leave for Portland and San Francisco soon to obtain more machinery.

Jack Layton, who was in town Wednesday, informs us that he will probably be able to pipe until September, when he will have washed off more ground than during any other season previous.

The company owning the New Eldorado mine on Jackson creek, advertised for bids for taking out 100 to 150 tons of quartz which were to be opened by the 22d inst. T. T. McKenzie is superintendent.

G. B. Caldwell and son are cleaning up at their mines on Sexton mountain and are doing quite well. Tinney & Prickett are also taking out considerable gold, although they were compelled to abandon their hydraulic pipe and use picks and shovels owing to the deepness of their diggings.

Messrs. Cornelius, Church and Hastings, of Portland, who purchased F. Jones' placer mines on Jump-off-Joe, are now in this section making preparations for next season's run. They will put in a hydraulic pipe and a giant and operate on an extensive scale. These gentlemen are also interested in one or more quartz mines in Josephine county.

Thirty tons of ore from B. A. Knott's ledge in Willow Springs precinct was crushed in L. D. Brown's mill near the Swinden mine recently and turned out well. We have not learned what the clean up made last week amounted to, but it was satisfactory enough to establish the fact that it will pay to put up a mill on the site of Mr K's ledge. It is said that the quartz averaged $10 a ton.

FOREST GROVE NOTES.

FOREST GROVE, July 27.

Prof N. Davis is home again, after teaching a term of school at Monroe.

Threshers everywhere are busy this week. Fall grain is making a good average.

A party, headed by Capt. Tyler, starts this week to the Nehalem country on an elk hunt.

I. L. Smith, Mr. Miller and B. F. Blood, members of the G. A. R., left this morning for San Francisco, by way of Yaquina Bay. The first two are accompanied by their wives.

Mr T. G. Yeomans, the famous Holstein cattle man, of Wallworth, New York, arrived here this morning and is the guest of Mr D. C. Stewart. Mr Yeomans is greatly pleased with the country.

President Ellis and wife returned from Yaquina bay last Friday, in response to a telegram telling of sickness in the family. The little child that had a touch of diphtheria is well at this writing.

One day last week, as the Portland train pulled in at the station here, three tramps were discovered riding on a brake beam. After being fined they told the conductor that they would wait for the next train, as they had started out to beat their way to Yaquina.

For ten days past the following parties have been in camp at the mouth of the Nestucca: George P. Gray and family, Mrs Jackson, Misses Lois Burlingame, Aura and Minnie Jackson, Bertie and Anna McDonald, and Ella Pollock, Messrs. Pollock, Haines, Showers, Jackson, Sloan and Sidney Marsh. Another party, consisting of Mrs Dr Marsh and family, Mr Roe and family, Mrs Zieber and family and Miss Laura Marsh have been camping in the same locality for two weeks. They are all expected back in five or six days.

PRESS COMMENT.

New York Times: As soon as it is made impossible to sell oleomargarine except under its own name, the factories where it is made will have to close for want of custom.

Providence Journal: One serious trouble with these foreign anarchists is that they mistook the offer of the hospitality of this country to be an offer of the country itself.

Atlanta Constitution: How can Morrison and his southern contingent hope to carry New York and New Jersey on the free trade issue. It is left to Mr Randall to save the party in those states.

New York Sun: From the mugwump point of view it may be a sublime spectacle to see the president interfering to keep republicans from being kicked out, but it is not pleasant to democratic eyes.

Chicago Herald: Labor can do as it pleases with this government in a lawful way, but in an unlawful enterprise it would be mercilessly crushed because it could never command its own strength in any such undertaking.

Montreal Gazette: There will be profound satisfaction in the confirmation of the report that a new extradition treaty has been arranged between Great Britain, covering the colonies and the United States. Reciprocity in rascals has existed too long.

Providence Journal: If the senate of the United States is not to be above the suspicion, not to say the proof of corrupt membership, then it will be idle to preach honor or honesty, as related to the offices and officials of any other class. If the highest are esteemed without regard to their probity, the lesser may well expect impunity in trading and cheating.

New York Sun: There is one way however, that the evident break in Mr. Cleveland's luck can be made good, and that is by the deliberate application of brains and will. Let him turn out the guilty member of his cabinet. Then the malicious blow dealt by the president's fickle fortune will be nullified, and a very desirable impression will be produced upon the public mind besides. A lucky president may be a valuable officer, but a wise one is better.

ENGLISH ELECTIONS.

A letter from England tells how the elections are conducted, and why the returns drag along week after week. We reprint the following:

First there is householder suffrage all over Great Britain. A man has a vote in each borough or county where he holds property; this often necessitates traveling some distance to vote as often as a man may. To provide for this sort of voters a writ is issued from London which denotes when and where voting will take place. It may be in one ward in London to day and another ward to morrow, or in one borough to day and another to morrow, the elections lasting several weeks. Money for electioneering purposes must be raised by the candidates or their friends. A bill to throw this expense upon the rate payers was defeated in the last parliament. Again it is not necessary that a man should be a resident of a borough in order to stand for that particular place for parliament. He may also be a candidate for two or more boroughs at the same time. If no opposition candidate is presented no popular vote is taken, and he simply is nominated and declared elected. Mr Gladstone not quite sure of his Edinburgh election stood also in Leith. No opposing candidates appearing, he was declared elected in both places. He selects Edinburgh, and leaves Leith to be unrepresented or a new election must follow. This election is something like fishing. If you don't find what you want in one stream go to any other stream that the owner will allow you to angle in. This system gives money and political trickery a great power, and the "classes" not the "masses" rule. A gentleman American who has completed prominent positions for ten years in [illegible] red me that English elections are exceeding corrupt, far exceeding that of our own country. Englishmen are never in a hurry and they just patiently for their turns.

$500 reward will be paid by the undersigned for information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of any one counterfeiting the trade marks or infringing on the proprietary rights of Wells, Richardson & Co. [illegible] the Great [illegible] Wells, Richardson & Co., New York.

The Reason for Gladstone's Defeat.

Philadelphia Ledger.

Thus far after examining most of the explanation for the defeat of Mr Gladstone at the elections, we have seen none that really does [illegible] quite so well as the Ledger's, viz: The still unconquered prejudice of a considerable section of English liberals against Ireland and the Irish, and the consequent habit of voting against them.

TUESDAY, July 27.

Overland receipts include car fruit jars, 3 cars farm wagons, 200 kegs nails, car white lead, 115 bbls beer, 2 cars w w mattresses, car reapers and mowers, 2 pianos, 1 organ, 25 bxs codfish, 100 cs canned goods, 100 cs lard, 2 cs cigars, 2 cs 10 pls candy, 130 butts tobacco, 11 cs boots and shoes, 118 cs axle grease, 5 bbls oil, 66 bd s shovels, 8 bales, 20 cs scales, 10 wash machines, 11 cs, 1 bbl, 6 csks glassware, 5 cs hats, 7 cs caps, 20 bls bagging, 2 road carts, lot woodenware.

The London correspondent of the Minneapolis Miller writes under date of July 5th as follows:

The shipments of wheat from India have at length fallen off, and the quantity afloat for the United Kingdom has consequently declined to 17,380,000 bus against 21,810,000 bus last year. What we have mainly to depend upon for our supplies for some time to come are the shipments from the Atlantic ports for Russia is still virtually out of the market and India having now exhausted her forward sales will for some time, or until prices improve ship sparingly.

An eastern exchange says: For the fiscal year ending June 30 1884 there were imported into the United States 8,6?? 122 bus barley valued at $4,922,144; for 1885 the quantity increased to 9,955,494 bus valued at $5,522,060, and for eleven months ending with May 31 1886 the imports amounted to 10,17?,?70 bus valued at $[illegible]. In view of these large figures and the fact that we have the soil, climate and all the conditions for growing superior barley, is it not strange that our farmers do not turn their attention to its cultivation? Some of the land now devoted to unprofitable culture in other over worked lines might be made to yield large profits in barley.

The returns of wheat and flour stocks in various British ports July 1 show the quantity in first hands to be larger than was thought. The following returns are furnished:

	July 1 1886 Wheat qrs	July 1 1886 Flour sacks	July 1 1885 Wheat qrs	July 1 1885 Flour sacks
London	40,000	99,000	36,000	401,000
Liverpool	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	2,000
Glasgow	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Leith	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Bristol	[illegible]	3,000	4,000	— 000
Fleetwood	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Totals	1,245,103	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

Adding wheat and flour together there is in the above ports a total of 1,7?0,000 qrs against 2,059,000 last year. Total stocks in the kingdom in first hands may be put down at ?,000,000 qrs against 2,600,000 last year.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Last twenty four hours: 204 bbls flour, 4?0 ctls oats, 80 lbs wool, 5 3 lbs hides, 8 cs eggs, 1700 lbs hops, 37 bxs fruit, 4 cs butter, 20 sheep. Also 7?02 ctls wheat, 3?2 bbls flour, 400 ctls barley, 1810 lbs wool, 2040 lbs hide, 5 bxs fruit, 19 cattle, from the eastern section.

WHEAT—Eastern markets closed higher but foreign advices are without new interest. Locally little attention is paid the market and business is dull. Reports from the interior do not agree as to the harvest outturn and threshing reports will be needed to determine the yield. It is generally believed the valley will do about as last year. Some here believe the eastern section will turn out 40 per cent less than it did last season.

OATS—Receipts light but demand is are supplied and the market is without new features.

EGGS—The request about keeps pace with arrivals and values are steady.

WOOL—Market firm with continued good undertone, but business here is very restricted.

At New York, on the 21st inst. the wool market had not markedly changed. The Shipping List said: Sellers with full confidence in the future and with the country relatively above the market here are offering supplies moderately and only at full prices while manufacturers though willing buyers at a little under what they regard as extreme views of sellers are holding off in the hope of driving better bargains later on. And so with full confidence in their relative positions buyers and sellers are apart and calmly awaiting the time when they shall be drawn together by some concession by the opposite party.

MILLSTUFF—Owing to scant supplies mill prices for bran and shorts have been advanced to $13.50@14.50 respectively, usual terms.

ENGLAND.

AN OFFICE GOES A-BEGGING.

LONDON, July [illegible]—Salisbury, Churchill and Michael Hicks Beach had a long conference this afternoon. It is reported that Salisbury is having great difficulty in the work of filling the post of chief secretary for Ireland, and no suitable man desiring to take the office under the new government. Lord Hartington was consulted about the Irish secretaryship before today's conference and the hitch which has occurred over the question may once state his return from Goodwood, whither he has gone to attend the races.

THE CARLTON CLUB MEETING.

LONDON, July 27.—The Carlton club is rapidly filling up with conservative members of the commons in answer to Salisbury's call for a general meeting of the party in the house.

Long before the time appointed for the meeting of the Carlton club the building was surrounded by a large crowd. The people were evidently strong sympathizers with the dominant party and cheered each leader as he appeared. Lord Salisbury, Lord John Manners and Lord Randolph Churchill were [illegible] with applause that was especially cordial [illegible]. The Right Hon. Wm. Smith, who was chief secretary for Ireland for a fortnight preceding the close of Lord Salisbury's last government, was cheered heartily when he arrived and the applause which greeted the Marquis of Salisbury when he made his appearance amounted to an ovation. The new premier was even more heartily received by the meeting inside. He made an address on the political situation. He congratulated his hearers on the success of the conservative party in the recent elections and dwelt on the wisdom and necessity of acting in accord with the liberal unionists on the Irish policy. The marquis spoke for twenty minutes. Among the announcements he made was that the Right Hon. W. H. Smith had been agreed upon as chief secretary for Ireland.

THE GOODWOOD RACES.

LONDON, July [illegible]—At Goodwood park to-day the race for Steward's cup was won by Crafton; Hews That second; Lucerne third. The race for the Richmond stakes was won by Pansie; Chief; Fresh Water second; Agnostic third.
